You can rev up your engine all you want at the Fox Den. This is the spot where you're most likely to find the bikers at City Block. And bikes, too. The Fox Den bills itself as "Louisville's First and Only Ride-Through Bar," and you can, literally, ride your hog in when the front door is raised. The bar itself is inside an actual school bus and it's where you can get your fill of beer, Jack Daniel's and other well drinks. The Fox Den also asks that you leave your mark on the place, or at least the bus. The Fox Den has also been known to have its share of fun promotions and games (who could forget the panty-sniffing contest?), so come ready to have some fun. Where else can you ask: "Hey is that a wrench in your pocket or are you just happy to see me?"
